

Pottery and Porcelain of the Wei, Jin, Northern and Southern Dynasties

During the Wei, Jin, Northern and Southern Dynasties (220-589) the white glazed porcelain was successfully baked by controlling the firing duration and temperature, and reducing the iron content of the raw material.

